

You are invited to a webinar on the Murray–Darling Basin Agreement

Tuesday 1 June

Water is a precious and limited resource that needs to be shared fairly for the benefit of Basin communities, farmers, and the environment.

10:00 am – 11:30 am
(AEST)

The Murray–Darling Basin Agreement is a long-standing arrangement that aims to share water fairly in the southern Basin and outlines the rules for the way the River Murray is managed and operated.

Cost: Free

The webinar will include information on:

- how each state's share is calculated
- who is responsible for allocating water
- how decisions are made on sharing the water
- how water is shared across a variable climate.

There will also be a moderated Q&A session as part of the webinar. You can submit questions in advance, find out more about our webinar series or view a recording after the event by visiting MDBA webinars.
